Discussions between the Center, its representatives, and clients are mostly safeguarded. Usually, no information will be released without the client and/or legal guardian's written authorization unless the information is released to contracted agencies, or as mandated to be released by law.

Other exceptions to confidentiality include, but are not limited to the following situations:

- Abuse or neglect of a child or of an elderly or disabled person
- Criminal prosecutions against the center and/or its representatives

- Licensing, certifying, professional association, state department, or governmental entity review boards which are investigating a complaint against the center or its licensed representatives
- All persons and agencies mandated or authorized by law
- Managed care and/or insurance carrier including but not limited to Texas Medicaid, private insurance, or other third party payers responsible for providing my and/or my family member(s) care or services and payment for those services

If you and/or your family members have any questions regarding confidentiality, you should bring them to the attention of the counselor when you and that representative can discuss the matter further.

Risks of Treatment

You will be making decisions in conjunction with the counselor about what services you will receive. While receiving these services you and/or your family member(s) may learn things about each other and themselves that you and/or they do not like. The success of our work together depends on the quality of the efforts on both our parts, and the realization that you and/or family member(s) are responsible for lifestyle choices/changes that may result from treatment at this center. Specifically, common risks include: couples exercising the divorce option; children or adolescents becoming very angry with their parent(s), caregiver(s), or other family member(s); anxiety; anger; depression; fear; emotional pain and distress; suicide and/or homicide; suicidal and/or homicidal ideation, plans, or behavior; treatment failure; an increase in medical, psychiatric, psychological, and social symptoms.

After-Hours Emergencies

Emergencies are urgent issues requiring immediate action. Staff is on call when the Center's offices are closed, and can be reached at this number: (469) 525-2498. You may be charged for calls in excess of 5 minutes.

Staff Incapacity, Death, or Separation

I acknowledge that, in the event that counselor becomes incapacitated, dies, or separates from the Center, it will become necessary for another Center representative to take possession of the case, file, and records. By signing this Declaration of Informed Consent form, I give my consent for allowing another Center representative selected by the Center and its representatives to take possession of the case, file, and records, if necessary, to complete, or continue to provide, services at this Center, or to deliver a copy upon my request to an outside agency, to complete or continue services. Please be advised that you will be charged the customary rate for the copying, labor, and postage of any such files or records if the case is transferred at your request to an outside professional.

Length of Visits

Appointments will vary in length depending on the service given. Assessment and individual counseling appointments are typically 45 to 55 minute in length.

Relationship

Your relationship with the Counselor is professional and therapeutic. In order to preserve this relationship, it is imperative that the Counselor does not have any other type of relationship with you and/or your family. Personal and/or business relationships undermine the effectiveness of the therapeutic relationship. Gifts, bartering, and trading services are not appropriate, and should not be shared between you or your family, and the Counselor.

Payment for Services

The charges for services will be billed to your private insurance if applicable. Otherwise, your fee is determined by the Center's fee schedule. We will look to you for full payment of your account, and you will be responsible for the payment of all charges at the time services are rendered. Please be advised that various insurance plans require different co-payments. Your co-payment is based on the mental health policy selected by your employer or purchased by you. In addition, the co-payment may be different for the first visit than for subsequent visits. You are responsible for and will be expected to pay your co-payment before services are provided. It is recommended that you determine your co-payment before your first visit by calling your benefits office or insurance company.

Cancellations

Cancellations must be received at least 24 hours before the scheduled appointment. You are responsible for calling to cancel or reschedule the appointment.

Payment for Records/Testimony

Although it is the goal of the Counselor to protect the confidentiality of your clinical records, there may be times when disclosure of the records or testimony will be compelled by law. In the event law requires disclosure of records or testimony, you may be responsible for paying the costs involved in producing the records, and you shall pay the Center's usual and customary hourly rate for the time involved in preparing for and giving testimony. Such payments are to be made at the time, or before the time, the Center and its representatives render the services.
